JELLA LEPMAN: BRIDGING WORLDS, BRIDGING YOUTH – ONE BOOK AT A TIME

By Laura A. Thompson, Ph.D.
Nova Scotia, CANADA
Who’s Jella Lepman and why learn about her?

Grade 6 Social Studies – World Cultures
The focus of this unit is the remarkable story of Jella Lepman, the founder of the International Youth Library (Munich), and the importance of building bridges of understanding between and among nations and young people worldwide.
Students will understand that books can help bridge cultures worldwide and people of all ages, especially children, and that the International Youth Library in Munich is a unique example of peace-building and intercultural understanding.
Overview

- Who was Jella Lepman?
- Where is Munich, Germany?
- What is the International Youth Library?
- Why books for children of the world?
- What is Jella Lepman’s legacy?
- How can you join Jella’s effort in making the world a better, more peaceful place?
Who was Jella Lepman?

- A German Jew
- Founder of the International Youth Library in Munich
- A remarkable woman
- Born in Stuttgart – died in Munich (1891-1970)
Where in the world is... Munich, Germany?

- Identify the following on various maps:
  - Continent
  - Country
  - City
Locate Germany.
Schloss Blutenburg in München

- Home of the International Youth Library (IYL), since 1983
- Where Worlds Meet
Jella Lepman: Founder of the International Youth Library (IYL) in Munich
Jella Lepman:
A Bridge of Children’s Books

- Autobiography
- A story of courage and conviction
- A remarkable story of one woman’s vision
- A legacy of peace and hope
How it all began

Books for Children of the World
Books for Children of the World: The Story of Jella Lepman

- World War II (1939-1945)
- So many books destroyed during the war
- German children were hungry for books
- Jella Lepman wrote letters all over the world to ask for donations of children’s books
What to do with these donated books?

- Jella Lepman organized an exhibition of children’s books that travelled throughout Germany.
Jella persuaded a German newspaper to print 30,000 copies of this book so she could distribute them to the children of Germany during the travelling book exhibit.

Jella translated The Story of Ferdinand herself!
Why was the International Exhibition of Children’s Books so important?

- July 3, 1946 – opening of Exhibition in Munich
- The first international event in postwar Germany

“...many of the best children’s books had been translated into all languages and thus had become the common property of children throughout the world. The children had made them their own.”
Why was the IYL founded after WWII?

- “From 1933 to 1945, the Nazi government declared that only books written in German could stay on the shelves of schools and libraries. Books in other languages and books showing people of different cultures were taken away and burned. Books about soldiers marching off to war and books telling terrible lies about Jews were added to the shelves.”
The children of postwar Germany

- The importance of books for the children of Germany

- “Were not Germany’s children just as innocent as children all over the world, helpless victims of monstrous events?”

  Jella Lepman
WWII is over – the bridge to peace!

“If the war is really over, if one is to believe in peaceful coexistence, the first messengers of that peace will be these children’s books.”

Jella Lepman
In 1946, Jella Lepman started by organizing an international exhibition of children’s books.

In 1949, Jella Lepman founded the International Youth Library in Munich, Germany.

Her goal was to regenerate hope and promote international and intercultural understanding.
Internationale Jugenbibliothek in München

Inside the International Youth Library
Inside the Internationale Jugendbibliothek in München

Each country has its own flag.

There is artwork featured, too.
Canada has two sections – and two flags!

One Canada flag for the French section and a second Canada flag for the English section – to represent Canadian children’s books in our two official languages!
The Night-time World in International Children’s Literature

Darkness had fallen – Eerie summer exhibit 2010
The Night-time World in International Children’s Literature
Would you like to read in this library?

Internationale Jugendbibliothek in München
What is special about the IYL?
What is special about IYL?

- It’s in a castle — cool!
  - Schloss Blutenburg
- It’s international.
- It’s for youth & children 😊
- It organizes activities:
  - Exhibits
  - Festivals
  - Reading Museums
  - Seminars for teachers & librarians
White Ravens

- WR online catalogue
- Features 3557 books from 84 countries and in 60 languages
- Books with:
  - universal themes
  - exceptional and innovative artistic and literary style and design
Does the White Ravens catalogue include books from Canada?

- 157 books are from Canada
- In English and French
Jella Lepman’s Legacy

What now?
So, why read?
So, why read?
Jella’s Remarkable Legacy: IBBY

- IBBY is one of the most influential children’s literature organizations in the world.
Jella’s Remarkable Legacy: IBBY

International Board on Books for Young People

- Helping children around the world access books and literacy programs
- Promoting peace
IBBY: The Right for Every Child to Become a Reader

- Supporting children whose lives have been disrupted by war, armed conflict or natural disaster
- What about their right to read?
- What about yours?

Children in Crisis
- Haiti
- Afghanistan
- Gaza, Palestinian Occupied Territories
- Lebanon
- Columbia
- Indonesia
IBBY: International Children’s Book Day

- Since 1967
- April 2nd
- A celebration 😊
- To inspire a love of reading
- To call attention to children’s books
- A different theme every year
JOIN IN THE CELEBRATIONS!

TD Canadian Children’s Book Week 2011 | April 30 - May 7, 2011

Semaine canadienne du livre jeunesse
Canadian Children’s Book Week

Celebrate Global Citizenship! Célébrez la citoyenneté mondiale!
Changing the World, One Child at a Time

Changer le monde, un enfant à la fois
How are YOU going to change the world?

I am going to read about current events once weekly.

I am going to read a book off the IBBY list this term.

I am going to participate in the 2011 Canadian Children’s Book Week.
Danke / Thanks / Merci

- laura.thompson@acadiau.ca
- Acadia University
  School of Education, Box 57
  Wolfville Nova Scotia
  B4P 2R6 CANADA
References

Links of Interest

- www.ibby.org
- http://www.ibby-canada.org/
- www.usbby.org
- http://www.bookcentre.ca/
- http://www.bookweek.ca/